INTELLIGENCE OFFICE,

No. 153 Fourth Street, bet. Grand & South 1st, WILLIAMSBURG.

MRS. FIRTH

Respectfully informs the Ladies and Gentlemen of Williamsburgh and its vicinity, that she still holds forth at her Old Stand, No. 153 Fourth street. Every Family wanting help, may be supplied with Good, Clean, Honest and Industrious FEMALE SERVANTS.

Mrs. F. feels confident, that after eight years' experience in her business, it renders her better qualified to attend to the wants of the Public, than probably any other person who may offer their services.

N. B. The Domestic Office for Female Servants, 153 Fourth street, is a safe and sure place to obtain good help, without the danger of being imposed upon.

Strict attention paid to orders from the country. If by letter, direct

JAMES HANFORD'S

HAT AND CAP STORE,

No. 140 Grand Street

WILLIAMSBURG.

Mr. H. respectfully solicits a continuation of the liberal patronage he has received from his numerous friends, as his stock of Hats and Caps of all varieties and sizes, is constantly increasing and improving. One advantage this establishment offers, is, that all Hats purchased at this Store, will be kept Pressed as often as required.

Mr. H. warrants his stock of Hats and Caps superior to any in City, and sold at the lowest prices.

Furs and Straw Goods of this country.

The First Premium, the Prize Medal.

Great Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations, in London, 1851.

M. M. LAWRENCE,

FOR THE

BEST DAGUERREOTYPES,

SUFFICIENT TESTIMONY OF THEIR GREAT EXCELLENCE.

The Pictures have been returned in good condition, and can be seen, with the Medal, at the Gallery, 351 Broadway, cor. White. The public are invited to call and examine them.

Mr. L. has just opened his new and splendid Rooms, cor. White st., which for elegance, convenient and extensive arrangements are unequalled—and with a light entirely new in its arrangement, producing the most beautiful results.

DAGUERREOTYPE LIFE SIZE.—All attempts formerly to take large Pictures have not proved satisfactory, in consequence of their distorted and magnified appearance. This has been obviated by increasing the size of the Camera. Mr. L. has just completed one of immense size. It is the largest Camera, and the only one of its size in the world. Notwithstanding its size, several artists have pronounced it the most perfect instrument they ever saw.

PROF. WETCALFE'S ACADEMY FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Grecian Edifice, No. 68 South-9th Street,

WILLIAM L. J. J. W.

Has entered on its third year with a steadily increasing patronage. Misses are received from the Nursery, as well as those more advanced, and are carried through a complete course of solid and ornamental branches of Education.

Boarding Pupils are received into the family of the Principal, not as constituting a modern Boarding School, where the inmates form a distinct community, but as members of the family with the comforts of a home.

During the Summer Recess, the School rooms will be greatly enlarged and fitted up with convenient heating apparatus, and the whole edifice will be thoroughly repaired and ready by the first Monday in September, for the reception of pupils.

Circulars, containing references, expenses, &c., can be found at Gandar's, the Post Office, and at the Rooms of the Subscriber, Nos. 66 and 68 South 9th Street.

D. SAVAGE'S LARGE BOOT & SHOE

STORE,
No. 126 Grand Street,
WILLIAMSBURG.

THE Undersigned would embrace this method of presenting to the Public a notice of his Large and Extensive Stock of

LADIES' AND GENTLEMEN'S
BOOTS & SHOES,
OF EVERY VARIETY.

Having enlarged his Store and increased his facilities for doing business, he can with confidence invite the attention of all the residents of this City to it. An experience of upwards of twenty years in the manufacture of the above articles, has taught him that what is commonly called CHEAP, is certainly the DEAREST in the end to the buyer, and the less profitable to the seller. In consideration of this it is his decided determination not to keep on hand any kind of Stock but the very Best, and as he pays the highest wages, he engages only the best workmen. His friends may thus rely on finding at his place the

BEST BOOTS AND SHOES

MANUFACTURED

With many thanks to his numerous customers for their kind preference, he will endeavor to be always on hand in person, to attend to their calls.

All kinds of BOOTS and SHOES made to order, with promptness and punctuality.

B. F. STRATTON'S BAKERY CONFECTIONARY

No. 57

Fourth, corner South 6th Street.

WILLIAMSBURG.

B. F. S. begs to thank the public for the very liberal patronage hitherto bestowed upon him, and to inform his friends that he has a large and extensive Bakery Establishment, which he has much improved of late, and thus given himself every opportunity to supply in large quantities and with great facility every article connected with the Bakery and Confectionary business.

THE ICE CREAM SALOON

Connected with the Bakery is now open and ready for the accommodation of the lovers of Ice Cream, Jellies, Confectionary, and other articles of that description in season. This Saloon is furnished neatly for the accommodation of ladies.

N. B.—Parties and Families supplied with Bread, Meat, Poultry, Game, &c. Also, all kinds of Cakes, Jellies, Confectionery, Biscuits, Mango, Pyramids, Ornaments and a variety of Fancy Articles. Silver and other wares; Music, and every thing necessary for an elegant Wedding or Private Parties, the price of which will be found as reasonable as those of any other establishment in the City of New York.

In the year closing Dec. 1852, there were 254 Bibles and 67 Testaments given to destitute families.—As the result of the last exploration, it is known that about 1-5th of the families in Williamsburgh and vicinity are still destitute of the Scriptures, and that because they prefer to be so. 5147 families were visited, and 1035 families were left without the word of God, for reasons which throw the responsibility of their destitution upon themselves.

THE WILLIAMSBURGH CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Organized March 20th, 1853.

OFFICERS.—Henry McKnistry, President.

Several Gentlemen of different Christian denominations, Vice Presidents.

J. W. Bulkley, Secretary.

H. P. Freeman, Treasurer.

MISSIONARIES.—Rev. Noah Coe, No. 12, S. 9th st.

Rev. Wm. H. Johnson, S. 3d st. between 3d and 4th streets.

OBJECT.—To provide religious instruction for the neglected and destitute, and to look into the temporal wants of the poor.

THE BUSINESS is done by a Board of Managers, consisting of the Pastors and a Lay Member of each of the Churches represented in the Society. All Evangelical Ministers of the Gospel in Williamsburgh, who are not pastors, are honorary members of the Board.

MEMBERS.—All who contribute to the funds of the Society.

THE PLATFORM is broad enough for all that love the Savior and the souls of men to stand upon together. The Society now embraces in its organization, nine different denominations, and more than a dozen Churches.

"Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."—Psalm cxxxiii. 1.

The Williamsburgh Grammar School,

Corner of Fourth and South-Ninth Streets,

SAMUEL REYNOLDS, RECTOR,

Has been in successful operation Five years.

The School is divided into four departments: PRIMARY, JUNIOR, SENIOR, and CLASSICAL, in order that pupils may be received at ALL AGES, from five years old and upward, and fitted, by a thorough course of education, for COUNTY HOUSE or COLLEGE.

The teaching of LATIN and GREEK is based upon the system so successfully practised in Modern Languages. The study of ARITHMETIC, both MENTAL and WRITTEN, a thorough knowledge of which is indispensable in this business community, is conducted by ANALYSIS, a method which inculcates the principles of the Science, facilitates the operation, and expands the mind at every step. In ORTHOGRAPHY and DEFINITIONS, "McELLEGOTT'S ANALYTICAL MANUAL" has been used with unprecedented success; and in the other studies, such books have been selected as Experience has stamped with her seal of approval.

Among many other advantages, which this institute offers, are, an efficient corps of Teachers, weekly Scientific Lectures, a spacious and well ventilated building, and a large and open play-ground for recreation and exercise.

Circulars containing all particulars, with several commendatory letters and references may be had of the Principal, 91 South 7th street, at the School, and at the principal book stores.

N. B.—The Fall Term will commence the first Monday in September.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

For Sale,

At HUNTER'S POINT and

GREEN POINT.

The Subscribers offer for sale, either for Dwelling, Manufacturing Ship Building or Dry Dock purposes, the most extensive Water Front ever in possession of any one Company in the vicinity of New York.

They will have when their plans are matured, not less than three miles of water front, including the East river and both sides of Newtown creek, with about four hundred and forty acres of land, suitable for Building Lots, Docks, Basins, &c.

About 1000 Building Lots are now graded and ready for sale.—Also one Ship Yard on the East river ready for use, either for sale or to lease for a term of years. The front north of the ship yard is intended for putting down ways, it being well situated for that purpose. The land in the rear is now graded.

The proprietors are confident they can make it an inducement for those engaged in ship building in the vicinity of New York, to establish themselves on this location.

A SKETCH

THE CHURCHES OF GREEN POINT.

In the early days of the village of Green Point, the different denominations met together for public worship in a small room, which would only accommodate some fifty or sixty persons. After some time had elapsed they divided. The Methodist denomination, under the charge of Rev. S. CLARK, increased much in numbers, and they succeeded in erecting a large Church on Union avenue. Their numbers have greatly increased since then, and they are now in a flourishing condition.

The Baptist denomination, although small, have erected a neat little Church, on 4th street, cor. of Calyer.

This society is prospering; and increased interest is manifested by all the members. Pastor, Rev. P. BOYCE.

Ascension Church, Green Point, Rector E. C. HINGCOCK.

The Vestry of this Church have secured 3 building lots on K street, and are about to erect a small frame edifice sufficient to accommodate some 250 persons. The number of communicants at present is twenty-five.

The Ref. P. Dutch Church at Green Point, was organized by the North Classes of Long Island, in May, 1848. For a year previous, the inhabitants, who were then few in numbers, had enjoyed only irregularly the means of grace, being dependent on supplies for preaching, obtained from the different denominations of Christians. Those who belonged to the Dutch Church were furnished for a few months with a missionary, the Rev. A. VAN ESE, by the board of Domestic Missions of their own faith. It was not, however, until '48 that the first DUTCH CHURCH was regularly organized, and commenced its ecclesiastical existence. This was to them a day of small things. Thus constituted, they invited the Rev. H. B. STUYVEN to watch over them for a few months; at the expiration of which time, a unanimous call was made on the Rev. JOHN WARD to become their Pastor, to which he acceded, and entered on his labors among them the 1st of August, 1849. From that time the Church has advanced with a healthy growth, in numbers and general prosperity. Nearly 3 years ago the congregation erected a substantial and neat Church edifice, sufficient to accommodate some 400 or 500 persons. The Dutch Church at Green Point may be regarded as a beautiful ornament to the village, attracting the eye of the traveller. The congregation is now quite large and very respectable in character, the members of the Church have increased to about 50, and last, but not least, is a large and very promising Sabbath School.

The population of Green Point at present is about 3,500.

There are three Societies in the place,

Sons of Temperance,
United Americans,
Odd Fellows.

Their numbers have greatly increased since then, and they are now in a flourishing condition.

The Baptist denomination, although small, have erected a small field Church on 4th street, corner of Calver. This society is prospering, and increased interest is manifested by all the members. Pastor, Rev. E. B. BAKER.

YOUNG LADIES'

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,

Corner of Fourth and South 9th Streets.

THIS INSTITUTION which has been in successful operation four years, is pleasantly located for commanding the attention of our citizens. Its past success has been very satisfactory. The method of imparting instruction is too well known to the public to require any elucidation. It aims at imparting, not a superficial, but a solid and profound education to its pupils—and for this, it is well calculated. The professors are men of high literary and scientific attainments, and of great experience as instructors.

Weekly lectures are delivered on various topics of a literary and scientific nature, which are of inexpressible benefit to those whose time and opportunity will not warrant their reading largely several works on the same. While the best means of acquiring a profound utilitarian education are afforded, the terms are not exorbitant; for while tuition fees are sufficiently high, as they should be in any institution, they are not such as would exclude any, not even the least wealthy among our citizens—our motto is—Let all be educated.

Composition is a weekly exercise, in each of the Departments, and thus every faculty is offered. French composition is a regular study. The language is daily taught and spoken by two native teachers. The public are invited to visit the institution, and examine pupils in French, also in their Drawing, Painting, and any branch there pursued.

No charge is made for French, Drawing, Latin, Greek, Vocal Music and Needlework.

TERMS PER QUARTER IN ADVANCE.
 Primary $1 00 Junior $2 00
 Collegiate $3 00

Board $10 per term at the House of the Principal, where the French language is spoken.

Visitors—Rev. M. J. Rhee, Rev. W. L. Roy, M. D., Rev. T. McLeod, D. D., P. V. Rensen, Esq., Rev. S. Dowling, D. D., T. M. Clark, Esq., and Professor Bassett.

Circulars can be obtained at the School, or at the residence of the Principal, 89 Fourth street. Prof. P. ABADIE, Principal.

The undersigned, having attended the examination of the Senior Class in Prof. Abadie's Young Ladies' Collegiate Institute, cheerfully bears testimony to the attainments of the young ladies, in the different branches of study they had been pursuing. While there were differences in the measure of attainment, all had evidently profited by the instruction they had received, and gave evidence that they were under the training of competent and efficient teachers. The course of instruction pursued, and the qualifications of the instructors, recommend this Institution to the continued patronage of our citizens, who have daughters to be educated.

Rev. M. J. RHEE, Prof. J. WOOD JOHNS,
 Prof. CARMAN, Painting Teacher, PETER V. RENSEN, Esq.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1854.

There will be four Eclipses this year, two of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I. There will be a Partial Eclipse of the Moon 12th of May, at the time of Full Moon. Invisible in the United States.

II. There will be an Annular Eclipse of the Sun on Friday, the 26th of May, in the afternoon. Visible in every part of the United States, principally as a large partial Eclipse on the Northern limb.

Northern Cities.	Beginning.		Greatest Eclipse.		End.		Duration.		Magni- tude.	Note.—This eclipse will be larger than any that has occurred in the United States for a number of years. It first happened on the world July 2, 1313, and since then it has returned thirty-one times. It occurred in April 1800, in May 1818, and in May 1836. It will return in June 1872. Its last return will be in the year 2593, Aug. 17.

Eastport, Me.....	4	43	5	56	6	59	2	16	10-75	The eclipse of this year will be central and largest in the N.E. part of N. Y., in the middle of Vt., and lower part of N. Hamp. The path of central eclipse will be about 100 miles wide, along which there will be a bright ring on the sun of a digit wide. This eclipse first touches the earth at sunrise, and ends at sunset in the Atlantic.

THE UTILITY OF PHRENOLOGY.

To Know Ourselves is a matter of the greatest importance, and there is no other means by which we can acquire this knowledge so well as by the aid of Phrenology. It teaches us for what occupation in life we are by nature best qualified, and in what pursuit we may be most successful.

To Parents and Teachers it will unfold the true capacities and dispositions of their children and pupils, and thus enable them the more successfully to govern and instruct them.

It will enable the Physician to understand the causes of insanity, and greatly assist him in restoring his patient.

It will aid Manufacturers in selecting Apprentices best adapted to particular occupations, Merchants in selecting confidential Clerks, Shipmasters in selecting Crews, and, what is of still more importance, will guide us correctly in selecting Congenial Companions for Life, and enable us to adapt ourselves to each other, when a difference in disposition exists.

It is a powerful Lever of Self-Improvement, in Moral and Intellectual advancement.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL CABINET.

129 AND 131 N. 4TH STREET.

Contains Books and Tracts from the hands of the most distinguished writers that ever lived; also Maps, Tools, Models and Animals.

MIND of man the central excellence of his being, it follows that those books which treat of the philosophy of man's physical and mental powers, showing how to develop and perfect the one, and to educate and expand

... and others, will be furnished with all our publications, on such terms as will enable them to realize a liberal profit. The circulation of these works, it is believed, will be the means of producing a much desired reform in all our modes of life.

THE WATER-CURE JOURNAL

Is published monthly, at One Dollar a year, in advance, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, illustrated with engravings, exhibiting the Structure and Anatomy of the entire Human Body, with familiar explanations, easily to be understood by all classes. The Water-Cure Journal, emphatically a Journal of Health, embracing the true principles of Life and Longevity, has been before the public several years.

PHRENOLOGICAL CABINET.

Strangers and Citizens will find the Phrenological Museum an agreeable place to spend a short time, as it contains many rare collections. Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, will be made at all hours, when desired. Written descriptions of character, also, promptly prepared. Our Office is in Clinton Hall, 131 Nassau street.

A LIST OF WORKS

BY FOWLERS AND WELLS, CLINTON HALL, 131 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

The Water-Cure Almanac.

PHILOSOPHY OF WATER-CURE.

BY R. T. TRALL, M.D.

THOSE principles whose assemblage constitutes the Water-Cure system, are, like those of all the exact sciences, few and simple. If they are not also intelligible to the common people, it is because the people have been so misled by wrong education, that their faith in medical subjects is in proportion to the mysticism which enshrouds them.

The best scholars of the Allopathic, and Homœopathic, and Eclectic schools, do not pretend to explain the modus operandi of the medicinal agents they administer in disease. None of them can give a reason why and how their remedies operate thus and so. They are governed, they say, by experience. They give such and such medicine in such and such diseases, because others have done so, and their patients recovered.

Now all such practice, whether successful or otherwise, is the moresť empiricism. There is no demonstrable theory or ascertained principles about it; and for this reason, all the improvements which the drug system can boast for two thousand years, have not improved the sick one's chance for life and health under its auspices.

In all these respects the Water-Cure system differs as light differs from darkness. The chief remedial agents of all other systems are drugs; and in the catalogue of their most active and most common remedies we find the most virulent poisons of the animal, vegetable, and mineral kingdoms. Every thing that is destructive and ruinous to the body in a state of health, is a remedy in disease!

We assume, that to all unprejudiced and reflecting minds, the whole drug system is self-evidently absurd. We maintain that it would be impossible for any intelligent physiologist to entertain the idea for a moment, that poisons, or even material agents extraneous to the structures and fluids which enter into the natural composition of the human body, are the appropriate means to employ to restore the harmony of its complicated functions when deranged by morbid causes, were it not that in early life some part or portion of his freedom of judgment—his common sense—had been educated out of him.

Admitting this, the inference is unavoidable that the human family would be vastly better off without the popular medical system than with it. And so believing, we can see the course of duty in no other direction than in a life consecrated to its overthrow.

"But," says the fearful conservative, "what are you going to substitute in its place? Better to have a wrong system or bad doctoring than none at all."

Without admitting or believing that an evil thing is better than nothing at all, we have to reply that we have a better way. The same laws and the same agencies which develop the body in all its complicated and wondrous parts from the primordial germ, and which sustain its varied operations in that harmonious relation which constitutes health, will also best neutralize the effects of morbid influences, and correct those derangements of functional action which constitute disease. These agencies are air, light, temperature, food, drink, exercise and rest, sleep and clothing, the governance of the passions, etc. When all of these influences work or operate together in harmony—in due relations and proportions—there is health. When they do not there must be disease. And herein is the whole philosophy of hydropathy rendered comprehensible to all.

If it be true that all health is the result of certain natural relations, states, conditions, proportions, or quantities of these agencies, or of all together, it must follow that any considerable deviation from these relations, states, conditions, proportions, or quantities, is what we call disease. And if both of these positions are correct, a third one—that the proper cure of disease consists in restoring these natural relations—becomes a truism, etc. And if the three preceding propositions be admitted, a fourth one—that air, light, water, etc., being the agencies or elements disordered in disease, must themselves be the remedial means—is established beyond all controversy. For what but air, or light, or water, or food, or exercise, or sleep, etc., abstracted or supplied, can rectify the excess or deficiency of air, light, water, food, exercise, sleep, etc.?

So much for the theory of Water-Cure. And now what have been its practical results, and what are its bows of promise?

Both queries can be answered in few words. It has already taught the people of the United States more of the laws of life and health in ten years, than they have learned from the drugopathic system since the world began. It has made hundreds and thousands of our people more intelligent in the means of curing themselves of their maladies during the last quarter of a century, than they ever could have learned of the allopathic schools or books in ten times ten thousand years. It has emancipated thousands of families from all dependence upon doctors. It has taught thousands upon thousands of people throughout the civilized world, the true nature and effect of alcoholic beverages; of opium, tobacco, and other narcotics; of tea, coffee, and other exhausting nervines; of gross and corrupting diet; of bad air and impure water; of low sensualities and unregulated animal passions; of improper clothing and enervating habits; and thus laid an enduring foundation for general reform, universal health, universal prosperity, and a final earthly millennium.

THE RUBBING WET SHEET.

BY JOEL SHEW, M.D.

THE rubbing wet sheet—too little appreciated, and too seldom used—is one of the most valuable of all the hydropathic resources. There is probably no other single application of water, in all the multifarious modes of hydropathic medication that can be made, on the whole, so useful as this. It is a tonic, a stimulant, a sedative, an antispasmodic, a derivative, or a febrifuge, according to the circumstances under which it is applied.

We take a coarse linen sheet, although cotton answers a very good purpose, large enough to throw about the body like an Indian's blanket. It is wrung more or less, according to the demands of the case. Thereupon it is thrown quickly about the patient's body, who, if able, is in the standing posture—and then both patient and assistant set vigorously at work, rubbing over the sheet, not with it, as some do, three, four, or more minutes, until the surface becomes thoroughly warm. If there is fever, however, less friction is required. After the wet sheet comes a dry one, used in the same manner. Those who have sufficient reactive energy, and most have, may dry the body simply by fanning it with the dry sheet, the windows at the same time being open. This sort of "air bath" exerts a highly pleasurable and genial effect upon the skin. Instead of giving one a cold, it helps greatly to ward it off. This method of drying the body was one of Priesnitz's later improvements; and it was he who improved Water-Cure more than all the world before him combined.

The rubbing wet sheet, it should be well remembered, is not a single application, capable only of producing one effect. It is used in three different gradations, and to produce very different results. It is well wrung, or only moderately wrung, or left quite wet and dripping. If a person is fatigued, or has a low degree of reactive energy, the first form is the one to adopt; if there is not much fatigue, and good reactive energy, the second; and if the person is feverish, and the object is to abstract heat simply, we use the sheet quite wet, dripping as we say. We repeat it, moreover, as many times in succession as the case may need. One great advantage, too, is, that we give it before or after a wet pack, when no bath is at hand; we also give it in connection with any other bath we may choose.

See how admirable a remedy the rubbing wet sheet, properly understood, is. A patient—a child, perhaps—is so feeble in the reactive power, that almost any form of bath we can give it, sends the blood from the surface, making the lips and nails pale or blue, and the extremities cold, showing congestion of the viscera. When a bath produces such effects, it is very apt, saying the least, to do more harm than good. But we can apply the rubbing wet sheet in such a way as to cause none of these ill effects; besides, it may be repeated many times in the day, so as to give the patient the advantages of a strong treatment; that is, a light treatment, which can be easily borne, is made a strong one by the frequency of its repetition. A wet sheet, well wrung, holds perhaps a pint of water; or, at most, a quart. Now it must appear plain, that a pint or quart of cold water spread over so large a surface as the whole skin, must become very easily warmed by the body's heat. Besides, if there is great delicacy of constitution, we may wring the sheet out of water at 70, 80, or even 90°, gradually lowering it as the patient can bear it.

The domestic availability of this application is also to be spoken of. In every hamlet, however humble, there is the coarse sheet and the bucket of water. How useful, therefore, as a resort, in "home practice!"

The rubbing wet sheet appears a trifling application—one which is not capable of producing any great result. But when we remember the myriads of nerves of animal life spread over the skin, and derived from the brain and spinal cord, it need not surprise us that its application should so invigorate the body, take off bodily and mental depression, remove languor, fatigue, expel flatus from the bowels, remove thirst, give appetite, and cause a feeling of calmness and relief which can be appreciated only by those who have experienced it. A preacher, for example, preaches three times on a Sunday, and gets his brain so excited that he can not sleep. A cold bath would be too powerful for him, and opiates would only act as stimulants, making the matter worse. Two or three successive applications of the rubbing wet sheet, with powerful friction, bring the blood so much to the surface that his brain becomes relieved, and he very soon falls into a sound and quiet sleep. So, too, if one has been long wet and drenched of a rainy day. He comes home with the surface and extremities cold, the blood pressing hard upon the brain and other viscera. The well-wrung rubbing sheet is applied with plentiful friction, and at once the oppressed organs are set free.

I should remark that in using the rubbing wet sheet, as in all other forms of general bath, it is well to wash the hands in cold water both before and after it. I do not see any need of throwing it over the head, as some have considered it necessary to do. A patient needs to breathe freely when he takes a bath.—[See engraving.]

NOTE.—I do not say, mark, that this application is always the most pleasant one. It does, in fact, require a good degree of moral courage to enable one to endure the first shock. To the sensations it is worse, if possible, than to plunge into cold water. I mean the first touch of the sheet to the body. Nervous ladies sometimes tell us they can not take the rubbing wet sheet, when, at the same time, they take the cold plunge, which is far more powerful, and too powerful for their case perhaps. This unpleasant feeling does no harm, for it vanishes the very instant after the sheet touches the body.

THE BETTER WAY.—How many thousands could tell the same, or even a far sadder tale, of money and health lost, and worse than lost, than that recorded in the following extract!

"Within seven years last past, I have paid out in the way of doctors' bills (which went to support the drug system) enough to purchase the WATER-CURE JOURNAL, at the club price, for one hundred and ten years to come, which, if I had now, would purchase me a long life insurance; I consider it as money worse than lost; for with the loss of money I have a wasted constitution."

THE WATER-CURE JOURNAL.—A subscriber, in Hamilton, Ohio, who through some accident or error failed to receive one or two numbers of the JOURNAL, thus writes:

"I look upon the non-arrival of your valuable JOURNAL as a calamity, more than equal to the cutting off of all the other papers I take. My wife was formerly a slave to 'Blue Mass.,' and other Allopathic medicine, until within two years, during which time she has abstained entirely from all drugs, and has adopted a rigid observance of the laws of truth, as laid down in your JOURNAL and other kindred works, and I can now truly say that her health is entirely restored. She is now one of the warmest advocates of the 'Water-Cure' practice that can be found in this part of Ohio, and has done as much toward circulating your Journal as any one could do.

"You will be good enough to send the back numbers; and if you have not been paid my subscription, I will cheerfully pay again a dozen times, rather than be deprived of the possession of such a valuable and cheap work. Remember, I am a paying subscriber, so long as I or my wife may live to read THE WATER-CURE JOURNAL."

G. W. T.

A SMALL CALCULATION.—Suppose a man drinks four glasses of liquor a day, at 5 cents a glass. In a week he spends $1 40, and in a year $72 80. This will buy the following articles: 4 barrels of flour, say $24; 4 pair of boots, say $15; 40 pounds of butter, $10; 200 pounds of beef, $8; a new hat, $4; a new satin vest, $5; a bonnet for wife, $5; sugar-plums for children, $1 80. Total, $72 80.

"RUN FOR THE DOCTOR."

"Run! tell him to come instantly! Poor Bobby! How he cries! It must be the plum-pudding that has disagreed with him! Jane, bring Daffy! And if you can't find it in the right-hand pantry shelf, look into the medicine chest for the Preservative. Perhaps the doctor isn't at home, and the medicine will do the child good in the mean time. Quick, Jane! If you can't find Daffy or the Preservative, bring the Syrup of Poppies. * * * Ah! you've got Daffy? Now, Jane, a teaspoon!"

You know the opportunity of physicing a baby is not to be missed. Medicine is meant to do children "good," and, therefore, it ought to be given. If a child cries, run for the doctor. But sometimes doctors are wanted in two or three places at once! So to provide against that contingency, run to the medicine chest for Daffy, poppies, or calomel. Give one or all of them. You can watch their effects, and test the power of the different medicines.

The child cries! It must be ill! Fetch the Elixir! It cost only eighteenpence a bottle: "a real blessing to mothers," ignorant ones, especially. Let any honest individual hint that the child has eaten too much, and the answer is, "Nonsense! what can you know of that? The child is ill! Any one may see that with half an eye. Hand over the bottle and the spoon!"

"Ah, here comes the doctor!" Here he comes indeed.

"What is the matter?"

"Ah, sir! he cries, and cries, and cries so, the poor dear must be ill!"

"What has he been eating?"

"He has only eaten some plum-pudding, and a very little thin bit of cake, with comfits, and an apple, and—"

"Why, the child has eaten too much!"

"La, sir, it can't be! his appetite is remarkably small—quite—quite—quite—"

"Ah, I see! Well, you must wait until morning, we shall see how he is then."

"Wait, sir, wait? Why, this child's quite ill! He must have some medicine!"

"The child is ill—that is true; but it is with over-gorging—medicine would only make matters worse. Leave Nature to relieve herself. He will be better in the morning."

"Won't you give him a little Daffy?"

"Oh, rank poison!"

"What, poison! I have given it to him fifty times, and he has been the better for it. I have given him some now."

"What! Daffy, plum-pudding, comfits, apples, etc., etc. Why, the child must have had the strength of a horse to survive all that!"

Doctors dare not always be honest to customers, else they would oftener speak out their mind freely, as this honest but rather rough doctor did. People will have physic. What else is the use of doctors but to prescribe for people? Mothers think their children are not done justice to, unless the doctor is drenching them with black draught, and such like. The doctor may give advice about regularity of living and simplicity of diet; but what does he know of that? cooks and nurses are much more likely to understand meats—let the doctors stick to physic? He may tell the nurse not to bandage the child tightly, and to avoid pins, but “what can he know of child’s clothes, or of their proper fastenings?” No! there is old Betty, the nurse, who is the standard authority in such matters. The doctor may tell the mother to give her children exercise; but does not she know better? If they scamper about, won’t they spoil their clothes? And if the little things should grow weak, sickly, and diseased, why, then the order can be given for the doctor? If he tells the housewife to ventilate the children’s sleeping-room—open the doors and windows frequently, that thorough draught may blow through and sweeten the rooms; “Oh, the children will get their deaths of cold!” And if they should become pale and fragile, weak in the chest and delicate in the digestion on the twinge in the thumb or great toe! Then comes the cry of "John—run for the doctor!"

Shut out the light, shut out the air: use cold water sparingly, and hot water "mixed with sterner stuff" copiously within; take liquors, pastry, pepper, and ale, mixed with cheese, nuts, wine, and olives; sit up late, and wear little shoe leather. When you go abroad, ride in a carriage, and when you sit at home, soak and eat, poking round the fire, with all the windows listed up so as to keep out "the draught." Let tradesmen root themselves in their shops, and stir not out from "the receipt of custom" Saturday nor Sunday; sleeping in close-curtained beds, with the chimneys tightly stuffed or boarded up; shunning above all things cold water and general ablution in the morning; and depend upon it, there will be no want of bad health: and the cry will be very frequent of "Run for the doctor!"

If people could run for a little common sense, even though paid well for it, it would be much better for them. But common sense is still at a heavy discount, where health is concerned.

REFORM LYRICS.

SWIMMING.

THE exercises for the man who works his brain much, should be chiefly those which exercise his chest and arms; of these swimming stands in the first rank, on account of its many advantages; putting aside the view of it as a means of self-preservation, as a sanitary means it has many beneficial effects. It develops the action of the muscles; if in salt water, it brings into contact with the skin the stimulant salts of the sea, such as the iodides and bromides of magnesium, which are powerful tonics and promoters of absorption when applied in that way. Superficial sores and cutaneous exhalations are removed, and loose scales of skin more rapidly extracted; by the sudden application of the cold to the surface, the blood is, for a short time, repelled inward, again to rush to the cutaneous surface with increased energy; producing the ruddy glow which always follows moderate immersion in cold water. Swimming has an additional advantage over bathing in this, that it is accomplished by an amount of active desire, of pleasurable gratification unknown in the taking of a mere bath; thus the reaction afterward is greater and more beneficial to the system at large.

From the accompanying cut it may be seen that in swimming the spine from the mouth, hold the nose, and then suck the foul air with a tube, and blow in fresh air in the same manner. Restoration has followed after eight hours' perseverance. Attempts at resuscitation had better always be continued for twelve hours, or longer, if there be any signs of life.

POISONED WOUNDS.—Sometimes great injury arises from poison being introduced into a wound, such as dead animal matter, etc. Place a ligature tightly round the limb, a little way above the point of injury, and only so tightly that it shall favor, but not stop the bleeding. (Fig. 5). Wash well with warm water, and place one end of a large quill, or small tube, over the wound, and keep sucking at the other, which will produce a vacuum, and act as a cupping-glass (Fig. 6). When the wound is poisoned, the parts around speedily swell to an alarming extent, requiring the constant care of the surgeon to prevent its extension over the whole body.

When the clothes catch fire, roll the person in the carpet or hearth-rug, or bed-blanket, as quickly as possible, to stifle the flames, leaving only the head out for breathing.

Wanted.—A public opinion that will keep all licentious, prodigate, tobacco-smoking and chewing teachers out of the school-house, and place in their stead hydropathic, hygienic, physiological teachers, with a "sound mind in a sound body."

Wanted.—To know how much the WATER-CURE JOURNAL is worth in a year to a family practicing its precepts.

Wanted.—To know what publications are doing as much good as the PERENNOLOGICAL and WATER-CURE JOURNALS?

Wanted, all to know that: "He that believeth" (in hydropathy, practically), "and is baptized" (all over, daily, by a shower-bath, sprinkling, or by immersion), "shall be saved," in this life at least; "but he that believeth not" (as above) "shall be," must be, "damned;" for Nature decrees it.

INFLUENCE OF WATER-CURE BOOKS.

PROBABLY no medical work ever published has made so deep an impression, and had so revolutionizing an effect on the public mind, as the Hydropathic Encyclopedia. Even Allopathic physicians themselves although it utterly repudiates and thoroughly explodes their system, often buy it, profit by its teachings, and, to a greater or less extent, adopt its prescriptions. Among the numerous letters we have seen in relation to the reception of the books sent abroad from this office, we present the following as a sample. The author is one of those afflicted invalids whose system is radically wrong by woful experience, and has stayed its millions. The medical tyros will follow the system, kill or cure, to the abandonment of reason and common sense. Dr. Trall is doing good service for the people of this generation, in combating drugopathy and the chemical poisons and appliances of that great quicksilver quack, Paracelsus. In his Vol. I., the Doctor gives the fullest and the most complete history of the various phases in medicine, from the days of Hippocrates down to our own times, that I have ever seen. He gives, in his introduction to the Encyclopedia, more valuable and important information than can be obtained from twenty volumes of the Allopathic school—a whole course of lectures at their colleges included.

"It is the most satisfactory history of the rise and fall of the different systems which has ever been written. Even admitting his system to be wrong, the author is doing good service in keeping the people from being killed, 'secundum artem.' Tell Dr. Trall to persevere in the good work so well begun, and he will receive at least the thanks of posterity. Doctors as well as lawyers are too much in the habit of cloaking their ignorance under bombastic technicalities. I have seen medical tyros called to the bedside of patients, and when asked what was the matter, commence talking the language of Ashdod (technicalities), to cover their ignorance. One could see by their airs that they know no more about the disease than a horse.

"You know that I made an effort, by petition to our Legislature, to have expunged from our revised code all Latin, Norman, French, and every other outlandish term. I wanted our laws written in our vernacular tongue. But the effort failed. I would rejoice to see the medical nomenclature scattered to the four winds. I am thoroughly disgusted with the roguery and rascality practiced in both the legal and medical professions. So far as I am individually concerned they are not in my way, for I have keys to all their mysteries; but for the good of my fellow-man I want them 'blown sky high.'

"I have seen three promising children killed by taking morphine; and the doctor had not intelligence sufficient to understand what was the matter, until I explained it to him. And now I will conclude this rambling scrawl with an anecdote. A young butcher put up at a tavern to stay all night, and the landlord, by way of nickname, called him Doctor, a title he had generally borne among his neighbors. It so happened that a young M.D. also tarried all night; and hearing the landlord call the butcher Doctor, he took it for granted that he was a real disciple of Esculapius. The next day it came to pass that they traveled together, and the young doctor asked the butcher what success he met with in his practice? The butcher replied that he killed more than he cured! The doctor, willing to be as candid as his friend, frankly acknowledged that he also killed more than he cured, in trying experiments!

"I admire the mental independence of Dr. R. T. Trall, and other writers of the Water-Cure Journal, which, by the way, ought to have a world-wide circulation. Your friend, F. J. C."

THE SECRET OF WARM FEET.—Many of the colds which people are said to catch, commence at the feet. To keep those extremities constantly warm, therefore, is to effect an insurance against the almost interminable list of disorders which spring out from a "slight cold;" and at the risk of being thought trifling, and of telling people what they know already, I beg to remind them of the following simple rules:

First. Never be tightly shod. Boots or shoes, when they fit closely, press against the veins of the foot, and prevent the free circulation of the blood. When, on the contrary, they do not embrace the foot too tightly, the blood gets fair play, and the spaces left between the leather and the stocking are filled with a comfortable supply of warm air. Those who have handsome feet, will, perhaps, be slow to adopt this dictum; but they are earnestly recommended to sacrifice a little neatness to a great deal of comfort and safety, by wearing what the makers call easy shoes.

Second. Never sit in damp shoes. It is often imagined, that unless they be positively wet it is not necessary to change them when the feet are at rest. This is a fallacy; for when the least dampness is absorbed into the sole, it is attracted farther to the foot itself by its own heat, and thus perspiration is dangerously checked. Any person may prove this by trying the experiment of neglecting the rule; and his feet will feel cold and damp after a few minutes; although, on taking off the shoe and examining it, it will appear to be perfectly dry. Did every one follow these rules there would be no more cold feet.

SCARLET FEVER.

BY E. T. TRALL, M.D.

THE necessity for sending information broadcast among the people respecting the proper management of this prevalent disease, is apparent enough by the following extract from a late correspondent to the Water-Cure Journal:

"MESSRS. EDITORS: Can you not give us a little information through the medium of your Journal, as to the proper treatment of scarlet fever and canker rash? Children and grown people are dying with it in this vicinity (Norwich, N. Y.); drugs seem to have lost their potency, or at least fail to save. Can you not give us a few cases treated by the scientific Hydropathists around you? We have looked over the pages of the Journal for some time, in vain, to find cases treated by your M.D. correspondents; and we have begun to suspect that either they had no patients of this kind to cure, or were not successful in their treatment. Do give us light!

A VOICE FROM OLD CHENANGO."

The writer above is informed that the successful treatment of all forms of scarlet fever, by water, has been so long an established fact among hydropathic practitioners, that the charm of novelty about the matter has almost worn out, and the subject is now rarely talked or written about by them. In the back volumes of the Journal, and in various books on Water-Cure, may be found abundance of cases in which the treatment is recorded in detail. The Encyclopedia also gives a complete exposition of the Water-Cure theory and practice. And even the newspapers have, within a few years, in many parts of the country, spoken at length as to the incomparable superiority and almost entire certainty of Water-treatment. But all these things are not known to our Chenango friend, and thousands of others are doubtless like him, not fully posted up in these matters.

I may state also in this connection, that I have, within two years past, received scores of letters from all parts of the country, giving accounts of the almost universal success of home-treatment, as well as accounts of the "dreadful ravages" which the disease makes under allopathic practice. Indeed, I have heard of but one death among the thousands which have been treated without drugs.

The hydropathic treatment of scarlet fever is exceedingly simple. The disease appears in many forms, with all degrees of severity. In the great majority of cases, however, sponging the body frequently with tepid water, just cool enough to feel comfortable to the patient—70° to 80°—when the heat is above the healthy standard, is all the external treatment that is strictly necessary. And all the internal medication absolutely essential is, frequent draughts of cool water whenever there is thirst to demand it.

This is certainly a very simple plan of treatment, and its management is not difficult; and I assert, from ample experience in the matter, having had cases to treat nearly every week in the year for several years, is sufficient in the great majority of cases. But many cases may be benefited and some few require additional attention. Whenever the whole body is very hot, and the patient not very feeble, the wet-sheet pack for an hour or so, is most efficacious. But in all cases where the system is greatly prostrated, and especially if the patient is extremely irritable and restless, the warm bath, or warm-water ablution is preferable.

Whenever the feet are cold they should be put in warm water for a few minutes, and hot bottles applied to them afterward. And when the head aches, cold cloths should be applied there. If the whole surface, or a considerable portion of it, manifests a hot, burning rash, attended with great distress or restlessness, the warm bath for five minutes, or warm wet-sheet pack for fifteen or twenty minutes, is the preferable appliance. When the throat is sore, or swelled, keep it constantly covered with wet cloths, these covered by dry ones; and when the throat or mouth is badly ulcerated, apply occasionally pounded ice, or the coldest wet cloths.

The general error of both water doctors and non-professional persons in treating scarlet fever, as well as all other forms, is in doing too much. Nothing at all should ever be done when there is doubt as to a particular measure. Wait until the doubt is removed; recollecting and trusting that Nature is always doing about right, whether we are or not. Those who treat cases of scarlet fever hydropathically, and do not over-do the treatment, will hardly ever lose a patient. I have never lost one. But as to druggery, which is abominable enough in every disease, it is to be specially abhorred in scarlet fever. It is not only useless, but dangerous—yes, murderous!

THE KISSING CURE.—Dr. Semple, in a recent valedictory address at Philadelphia, to the graduating class, related the following anecdote, by way of illustrating the duties and advantages of kindness of demeanor on the part of the physician:

"It is said of the elder Dr. Parrish, that his suavity and tenderness did almost as much as his skill in the restoration of his patients; and that, on one occasion, a young lady, whose malady seemed reluctant to yield, hearing the good doctor express a desire that he might see a change for the better in her condition, whispered in the ear of the attendant, 'I think if the dear doctor would kiss me, I should be better.' He overheard her, and promptly responded, 'Does thee think so? then thee shall have one,' and suiting the action to the word, he bent over and kissed her. The next day she was better, and soon was entirely well. Let me, however, caution you, young gentlemen, how you repeat the prescription, as it might not in all cases be equally efficacious."

WATER-CURE PROCESSES APPLICABLE TO HOME-TREATMENT

FROM THE CIRCULAR OF DR. E. T. TRALL.

1. Wet-Sheet Packing.—On a mattress two or three comfortables or bed-quilts are spread; over them a pair of flannel blankets; and lastly, a wet-sheet (rather coarse linen is best), wrung out lightly. The patient, undressed, lies down flat on the back, and is quickly enveloped in the sheet, blanket, and other bedding. The head must be well raised with pillows, and care must be taken to have the feet well wrapped. If the feet do not warm with the rest of the body, a jug of hot water should be applied; and if there is a tendency to headache, several folds of a cold wet-cloth should be laid over the forehead.

2. Half-Bath.—An oval or oblong tub is most convenient, though any vessel allowing the patient to sit down with the legs extended will answer. The water should cover the lower extremities and about half of the abdomen. While in the bath, the patient, if able, should rub the lower extremities while the attendant rubs the chest, back, and abdomen.

3. Hip or Sitz-Bath.—Any small-sized wash-tub will do for this; although tubs constructed with a straight back, and raised four or five inches from the floor, are much the most agreeable. The water should just cover the hips and lower part of the abdomen. A blanket should be thrown around the patient, who will find it also useful to rub or knead the abdomen with the hand or fingers during the bath.

4. Foot-Bath.—Any small vessel, as a pail, will answer. Usually the water should be about ankle deep; but very delicate invalids, or extremely susceptible persons, should not have the water more than half an inch to one inch in depth. During the bath the feet should be kept in gentle motion. Walking foot baths are excellent in warm weather where a cool stream can be found.

5. Rubbing Wet-Sheet.—If the sheet is used dripping wet, the patient stands in a tub; if wrung so as not to drip, it may be used on a carpet, or in any place. The sheet is thrown around the body, which it completely envelops below the neck; the attendant rubs the body over the sheet (not with it), the patient exercising himself at the same time by rubbing in front.

6. Pail Douche.—This means simply pouring water over the chest and shoulders from a pail.

7. Stream Douche.—A stream of water may be applied to the part or parts affected by pouring from a picher or other convenient vessel, held as high as possible; or a barrel or keg may be elevated for the purpose, having a tube of any desired size. The power will be proportioned to the amount of water in the reservoir.

8. Towel or Sponge-Bath.—Rubbing the whole surface with a coarse wet towel or sponge, followed by a dry sheet or towels, constitutes this process.

9. The Wet-Girdle.—Three or four yards of crash towelling make a good one. One half of it is wet and applied around the abdomen, followed by the dry half to cover it. It should be wetted as often as it becomes dry.

10. The Chest-Wrapper.—This is made of crash, to fit the trunk like an under-shirt, from the neck to the lower ribs; it is applied as wet as possible without dripping, and covered by a similar dry wrapper, made of cotton or light woolen flannel. It requires renewing two or three times a day.

11. The Sweating-Pack.—To produce perspiration the patient is packed in the flannel blanket and other bedding, as mentioned in No. 1, omitting the wet-sheet. Some persons will perspire in less than an hour; others require several hours. This is the severest of the Water-Cure processes, and, in fact, very seldom called for.

12. The Plunge-Bath.—This is employed but little, except at the establishments. Those who have conveniences will often find it one of the best processes. Any tub or box holding water enough to allow the whole body to be immersed, with the limbs extended, answers the purpose. A very good plunge can be made of a large cask, cut into two near the middle. It is a useful precaution to wet the head before taking this bath.

13. The Shower-Bath.—This needs no description. It is not frequently used in Water-Cure, but is often very convenient. Those liable to a "rush of blood to the head" should not allow much of the shock of the stream upon the head.

General Bathing Rules.—Never bathe soon after eating. The most powerful baths should be taken when the stomach is most empty. No full bath should be taken less than three hours after a full meal. Great heat or profuse perspiration are no objections to going into cold water, provided the respiration is not disturbed, and the patient is not greatly fatigued or exhausted. The body should always be comfortably warm at the time of taking any cold bath. Exercise, friction, dry wrapping, or fire may be resorted to, according to circumstances. Very feeble persons should commence treatment with warm or tepid water, gradually lowering the temperature.

General Dietetic Rules.—The food should always contain such relative proportions of bulk and nutriment as will keep the motions of the bowels at all times free, easy, and natural. Graham bread, wheaten grits, hominy, wheat-meal biscuits, with plenty of good fruits, constitute the essentials of the best dietary system. Other farinaceous preparations and vegetables may be used for variety. Those who use animal food should eat fresh meat, but never more than once a day. All gravies, greasy meats, swine-flesh, shell-fish, and old cheese should be religiously abstained from. Fresh butter may be tolerated if used very moderately, but is not to be recommended. Salt, sugar, milk, and cream are the only admissible seasonings, and all of them should be employed in moderation. Light puddings may be made of Graham crackers, cracked wheat, hominy, coarse Indian meal, and rice, with milk and sugar. Comparatively healthful pastry may be made of Graham flour, shortened with sweet cream, and mealy potatoes, with green or dried fruits, seasoned with sugar or molasses.

Crisis.—Those general disturbances of the system, transfers of morbid action, or aggravations of symptoms, constituting crisis, do not occur as frequently nor with as much severity in home practice as under the more thorough and systematic course of a Water-Cure. Nevertheless, they do occasionally occur; and then all the patient has to do is to moderate the treatment in precise ratio to the violence of the crisis. Keep quiet and cool, taking no more exercise than is agreeable to the feelings, and let Nature have her course. After it is over, if the patient is not cured, the treatment may be resumed as before.

SCENES FROM MOLIERE.

ILLUSTRATIVE OF LEGITIMATE MEDICINE.

ALLOPATHIC PREVENTIVE.

Dr. Spanavella.—Let me be candid with you, Misa. I do not like that robust health of yours. It is a bad thing to be too robust. In such cases, it is always good to take a little blood away. A nice little bleeding, with a gentle lavement or two, will sweeten the humors amazingly.

M. Geronta.—Heaven bless us! Do you actually bleed and purge when there is no complaint?

Dr. Spanavella.—Why not? What measures can be so proper, or so salutary? If we drink to keep off thirst, wherefore object to keep off disease by a little gentle bleeding and purging? You will admit, at least, that prevention is better than cure.

Madlle Jacqueline.—Ah, doctor! what it is to be a philosopher! But—but—

Dr. Spanavella.—But what?

Madlle Jacqueline.—Why—only—that you—will not very easily catch me making an apothecary's shop of my carcass—that's all.—Le Mdecin Malgré Lui.

DIED OF FOUR DOCTORS.

Lisette.—What do you intend, sir, by having four doctors to your daughter? Is not one man-slayer enough for one person?

Dr. Spanavella.—Be silent, mix! Four opinions are better than one, any day.

Lisette.—Then you will not let the poor child die in peace, but must needs let the doctors worry her to death.

Dr. Spanavella.—Do you think these gentlemen will really put her to death?

Lisette.—No doubt at all of that. The other day, a friend of mine, by the best reasoning in the world, proved to me how a person, of her acquaintance, who was thought to have died of fever and a fluxion of the lungs, died, on the contrary, of four doctors and two apothecaries!

Dr. Spanavella.—Hush, hush! You will offend the gentlemen in attendance.

Lisette.—Well, listen to me, sir. Our cat has just recovered from a fall she had from the top of the house into the street below. For three days, she ate nothing, and all that time she could not stir a paw; but, luckily for her, there are no cat-doctors here. If there had been, they would have bled and purged the poor thing's life out, to a certainty.—L'Amour Propre, Act 2, Scene 1.

NOT IN THE BLOOD.

First Physician.—How many times has he been bled?

Peasant.—Fifteen times in twenty days.

First Physician.—Fifteen times bled?

Peasant.—Yes, sir.

First Physician.—And he is not cured yet?

Peasant.—No, sir.

First Physician.—Then we may be sure the disease is not in the blood. We must purge him the same number of times, to see if it is not in the humors. If that don't answer, we can but send him to the baths.—M. de Pourceaugnac, Act 1, Scene 8.

PHYSICIAN, HEAL THYSELF!*

We lecture the drunkard day after day and year after year, but seldom think of lecturing ourselves. We have thirty-and-nine lashes for him, and none for ourselves. We have a thousand-and-one good-for-nothing practices, while he has one, just one, of which we complain.

I have often thought that if I was a drunkard, I would lecture back to these good people who talk so loudly of his intemperance, and so little of their own. I would tell them of their teas, and coffees, and tobacco; of their beers, and sodas, and sarsaparillas; of their peppers, spices, and condiments; of their greases, gravies, and indigestible fixings; of their hot rolls, and heavy rolls, and pound rolls; of their tables that groan, and of their stomachs that groan worse; of the innocent animals they kill and eat, and of the animals they make of themselves; of the way they live and labor, to eat, and live, and suffer, after they do eat; of the gout, rheumatism, fevers, tumors, cancers, scrofulas, dyspepsias, diarrheas, and thousand-and-one miserable diseases they produce by their miserable intemperance. I should have a wide field to lay open before them, the horrors of which, if they had any hearts, would make them blush—blush to think that they had abased themselves and their neighbors and children so much—not to think they had lectured the drunkard so much, but themselves so little—to think they had transgressed almost as many physical and moral laws as he. If they should tell me of my miserable physical condition, I would read them a lecture on the long list of ailments, pains, and weaknesses which infect their blasted and worn-out bodies, as an offset. Thus, if I were a drunkard, I would be strongly tempted to show those who should attempt to lecture me, that temperance lecturing was a game at which two could play. This, however, would not excuse my drunkenness. It would only be another sad proof that misery loves company. It is evident that if we would induce the drunkard to reform, we must reform ourselves. If we would get the beam out of his eye, we must remove the mote from our own eye; or else he will say, "Physician, heal thyself."

CRABBE ON PHYSIC.—The poet Crabbe, in early life, studied physic, but soon left it in disgust, as the Water-Cure had not been promulgated, and entered the church. In one of his poems, the Library, he gives us his opinion of the medical profession:

"But man, who knows no good unmixed and pure,
Off finds a potion where he sought a cure;

For grave deceivers lodge their labors here,
And cloud the science they pretend to clear.
Scourges for sin the solemn tribe are sent;
Like fire and storms, they call us to repent.
But storms subside, and fires forget to rage;
These are the eternal scourges of the age!
'Tis not enough that each terrific hand
Spreads desolation round a guilty land;
But, tramped to ill, and hardened by its crimes,
Their pen, relentless, kills through future times.

* From Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. By Rev. G. S. Weaver. New York, Fowler & Wells. Price, pre-paid by mail, 37 cents. An earnest, thoughtful, and practical work.

The daughter sits in the parlor,
And rocks in her easy chair;
She's clad in her silks and satins,
And jewels are in her hair—
She winks, and giggles, and simpers,
And simpers, and giggles, and winks,
And though she talks but little,
'Tis vastly more than she thinks.

Her father goes clad in russet,
And ragged and seedy at that—
His coats are out at the elbow,
He wears a most shocking bad hat.

He's hoarding and saving his shillings,
So carefully, day by day,
While she, on her beaux and poodles,
Is throwing them all away.

She lies abed in the morning,
Till nearly the hour of noon;
Then comes down snapping and snarling,
Because she was called too soon.
Her hair is still in her papers,
Her cheeks still dabbled with paint,
Remains of the last night's blushes,
Before she intended to faint.

DR. FRANKLIN, in summing up the domestic evils of drunkenness, says,
"Houses without windows, gardens without fences, fields without tillage, barns without roofs, children without clothing, principles, morals, or manners."

WANTS.—One of the New York papers has some capital hits at the follies of the times in the shape of a list of wants. Among them are the following:

Wanted.—Twenty fashionable young ladies who dare be seen wielding a dusting brush, or darning their brothers' stockings, if a gentleman should happen to make an early call.

Wanted.—The same number of matrons—leaders of the upper ten—who dare confess that they were tailresses and their husbands milk-men.

Wanted.—The same number of young ladies "who are somebody," who dare to be seen in Broadway wearing shoes with soles thick enough to keep their feet warm.

Wanted.—The same number of young ladies of sufficient age "to go into company," who dare confess they ever made a loaf of bread.

Wanted.—One young married lady who is willing to begin housekeeping in the same style her parents began.

STRONG TESTIMONY.—I think the "WATER-CURE JOURNAL and HERALD OF REFORM" is the best journal for the family circle, and the "reading of the million," that is now in existence. This is enough for me to say, and affords sufficient apology for the interest I have taken in its circulation. [With this came a list of twenty subscribers.—Ed.] I also feel it my duty to use some exertion, even at a little expense, to benefit my fellow-men; and this I deem a much greater charity than by giving the same amount of dimes to the indigent and infirm without instructing them how to live.

R. L. E.

HINTS TO WOMEN.—As the first means of preventing the premature decay of our sex, let our girls have a good physical training, and a good physiological education. Whether a woman know any thing of the piano or guitar, or not, let her be well versed in the mysteries of that harp of a thousand strings, which, in these days of physical degeneracy, does not maintain its harmony as in the days of Watts, who expressed his wonder that it should keep in tune so long.

Such an acquisition, though considered less ornamental, would be, in truth, of greater personal and family utility than that of any other.

It is true some say that we, the weaker sex, are so impressible, so excitable, so imaginative, that the less we know of medical matters the better, being prone to think we have every disease the symptoms of which we hear described. In proof of this, they urge the fact that many a woman in tolerable health has been made to think herself sick by listening to a lecture, or reading a pamphlet, coming from some self-interested vender of traps and drugs. No doubt many a woman has dosed herself with syrups, loaded herself with plasters, braces, and supporters, because her medical adviser was more interested for the improvement of his own purse than of his patient's health. Instances like these only serve to illustrate the occasional truth of the saying, that "a little learning is a dangerous thing," and argues the need of woman having more, rather than less, medical knowledge, that she may not fall a prey to those who "go to and fro" seeking whom they may—doctor, irrespective of their need of being doctored.

Another class fear or fancy that minute anatomical and physiological knowledge will serve to render feminine feelings obtuse, gross, and vulgar. Then are woman's peculiar virtues, and most pleasing attractions, "such stuff as dreams are made of," that they vanish before any illumination on the laws by which life and health in all its details are regulated. Can it be that the study of any work of the Infinite Artist can degrade the mind of either sex, and especially that of the crowning work of the Creator?

MRS. R. B. GLEASON.

TERTIAN AGUE.—"What kind of treatment is necessary for third-day chill and fever?" A daily rubbing wet sheet; the abdominal bandage constantly; the wet-sheet pack during the hot stage of each paroxysm, when the fever is at its height, followed by a dripping wet sheet; and a diet principally of dry coarse bread, good fruit, potatoes, and other mild vegetables—very abstemious in quantity. For general health any daily bath will answer. There is no special "kind of exercise" necessary to health. All exercises are healthful just so far as they conform to physiological laws.

The difference between a good physician and a bad physician is truly very great; but the difference between a good physician and none at all, is very little.

CONCERT EXTRAORDINARY.—The Baltimore Clipper has lately had the good fortune to be one of an audience at a grand frog concert lately given in a marsh in the vicinity of the Monumental City. He is quite enthusiastic in his description of the entertainment, as will be seen by the following extracts:

The grand overture, representing the breaking up of the winter, was exquisitely performed—the trumpet solo was particularly fine, and added much to the musical reputation of Signor Gamblenouna. The representation of a thaw was admirable, frying-pan obligato. The solo, "Titteri, titteri, Kung," by the prima donna, Signorina Stellawig, was sung in a clear, melodious strain. We transcribe the recitative, as near as we can remember it, the aria being lost by an envious tree-toad's interfering ever and anon with the exquisite performance.

"Kung de nung—kung, tung,
Koe te kung, te koo:
Titteri, titteri nung,
Titteri, titteri koo."

The bassoon solo of Signor Bloodynouna, "Music on the waters," with variations, was blinked, and the balmy sphyra stopped to perform with wonderful execution. Then catch the enchanting melody.

[Our country friends who are blessed with the music of Nature, will be able to appreciate the above.]

came the grand chorus from the unwritten opera of "A frog he would a wooing go." It was apropos and effective.

AN ELEVATING DINNER.—Dr. Chandler, in a recent address before the Vermont Medical Society, alluding to the many wants of the profession, and the various ways in which regular doctors can comfort and sustain each other, remarks:

"The proposal to distinguish our annual meeting with a public dinner should be regarded as ominous of good; [good eating?] thus favoring the development of the social and moral elements indispensable to the formation of elevated professional character."

Roast pigs, turtle soups, clam chowders, fried eels, poached frogs, blood-puddings, pickled tripe, followed by a refreshing smoke, gentlemen! Call you these dainties moralizing and elevating? Perhaps, though, you will have a banquet untainted with carnage, guiltless of bloodshed, composed of the delicious vegetables and luscious fruits for food, and the purest water for drink. If so, we would not disdain to meet with you.

A Water-Cure Diet may include the following articles, which we have endeavored to place in the order in which we prefer them, under their several heads:

1. Farinacea.—Wheat, unbolted, as bread

The best cures are made upon a simple vegetable diet.

A strict diet consists of a few of the best articles of farinacea and fruit, with a little milk, in all not exceeding six ounces of nutriment a day.

A moderate diet may include a greater variety of articles, and ten ounces of nutriment.

A full diet, suitable to a condition of health, may vary from twelve to sixteen ounces of nutriment a day.

When a man nowadays wishes to communicate the intelligence that a daughter has been added to the family, he says, "that his domestic affairs have reached a cry sis."

[The man who made that "pun" must belong to the Allopathic school. Water-Cure "sissers" don't cry, when properly taken care of.]

HOW TO SIT.

MANY persons have an unfortunate method of crooking or leaning while sitting or standing. Fig. 10 represents a rather extreme misposition, but yet not very uncommon.

And here, if I had time and room, I could most conscientiously administer a severe pen-and-ink castigation to parents, teachers, and all others having the early training or government of children, for the common vice, or fault, or misfortune of permitting them to sit, stand, walk, work, play, or sleep in crooked bodily positions. It is very true that children, not constrained or misdirected by art, are inclined to be physiologically correct in all their arrangements; but it is art that perverts them; and it is melancholy to reflect how frequently the earliest school-days of the little boy or girl are the commencement of their bodily deformity. A very slight deviation from the erect position, then; a little too much constraint, or too much confinement to a fixed position, may become the starting point of a deformity which is to grow with its growth, and strengthen with its strength. Fig. 11 represents the true position.

BREVITIES.

HOWARD, the philanthropist, was a Hydropathist and a Vegetarian.

Fruits, roots, and vegetables, are the natural food of man.

Wine and strong drink have drowned more than the sea.

Some people substitute physis for temperance—bad policy.

Aliments abounding in fat are unwholesome, as fat retards the action of the gastric juice.

Lamarine was educated a Vegetarian.

The Brahmins live principally on rice, and the Mexicans on maize.

The Brahmins have not killed animals for three thousand years.

From 2,000 to 4,000 gallons of air pass in and out of an ordinary chest and healthy person's lungs every twenty-four hours.

Port-eating predisposes to attacks of bilious fever and fever and ague.

PURITY OF WATER.—It is believed that the purity of the water has far more influence than has been supposed, both in the rapidity and the certainty of a cure, especially in those diseases in which unhealthy humors and abnormal secretions are to be discharged from the system.

HOW TO STAND.

Fig. 12.

IMPROPER STANDING.

Fig. 13.

BODILY UPRIGHTNESS.

It would seem that all persons ought naturally to stand erect; and so they would were they in a state of Nature. But observe the position of Fig. 12, which may frequently be seen in our schools and even among public speakers. Contrast this with Fig. 13, "straight as an Indian." Who ever heard of an Indian having the spinal complaint? Can there be any doubt which is the right way?

PURE WATER.—If, therefore, you wish for a clear mind, strong muscles, and quiet nerves, and long life and power prolonged into old age, permit me to say, although I am not giving a temperance lecture, avoid all drinks but water, and mild infusions of that fluid; shun tobacco and opium, and every thing else that disturbs the normal state of the system; rely upon nutritious food and mild, dilutant drinks, of which water is the basis, and you will need nothing beyond these things except rest, and due moral regulation of all your powers, to give you long, happy, and useful lives, and a serene evening at the close.—Prof. Silliman's Lecture.

PROSPECTUS.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL is published in New York, on the first of each month, and is devoted to Science, Art, Literature, and General Intelligence.

PHRENOLOGY, which forms a leading feature, will be fully explained, amply illustrated with the portraits of the virtuous and vicious, and its doctrines applied to all the practical interests and pursuits of the Human Race.

PHYSIOLOGY, or the Laws of Life and Health, will be clearly defined, extensively illustrated, and made interesting and profitable to all; our motto being, "A sound mind in a healthy body."

HOME EDUCATION will occupy much attention, and be just the kind of knowledge that the mother requires, as a guide in the discharge of her important duties.

YOUNG MEN will find the Journal a friend and father-father, to encourage them in virtue, shield them from vice, and prepare them for usefulness and success in life. The various occupations will be discussed in the light of Phrenology and Physiology, so that every one may know in what pursuit he would be most likely to succeed.

MEASUREMENTS will be unfolded, and a rational explanation given of its phenomena and uses as a curative agent.

PHRENOGRAPHY, or the external signs of character, as shown by shape, expression, and natural language, will be presented.

Please be particular to write all names of persons and places.

VOLUME XIX.

PHRENOLOGY, which seems to open to the world a new field of interest in the empire of mind, will be thoroughly discussed and developed in its various relations and bearings.

AGRICULTURE, the primitive, most beautiful, and independent employment of man, will receive much attention, and make the Journal eminently valuable to the farmer, and indeed to all who have a fruit tree or a garden.

Mechanics.—As at least one-half of the wealth of the world comes through the exercise of the faculty of Constructiveness, the various mechanical arts will be encouraged, new inventions explained and illustrated with spirited engravings.

THE NATURAL SCIENCES, Art, Literature, Mechanics, and General Intelligence, will constitute an essential feature.

ENGRAVINGS, to illustrate all the leading topics of the Journal, more numerous and beautiful than heretofore, will ornament this volume to all readers of good taste.

THE MERCHANT, the Farmer, the Professional Man, the Student, the Teacher, and the Mother, will find each number of the Journal an instructive and valuable companion.

TO PUBLISHERS AND CO-WORKERS.—Every individual who is interested in human progress, is especially invited to aid in the circulation of the AMERICAN PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL for 1864.

VOLUME XVII.

PRESERVATION OF HEALTH.—Without Health, even life is not desirable, unless a remedy can be found. It will be part of our duty to teach the world how to preserve health, as well as cure disease.

EXERCISES in all our modes of life will be pointed out, and made so plain that "he who runs may read." We believe fully, that man may prolong his life much beyond the number of years usually attained. We propose to show how.

HOME TREATMENT.—Particular directions will be given for the treatment of ordinary cases at Home, which will enable all who have occasion to apply it without the aid of a Physician. Let it be borne in mind, that the WATER-CURE JOURNAL is a thoroughly POPULAR WORK, and not the Organ of a Profession or Sect.

THE FUTURE.—While the achievements of the Past are the best promise of the Future, we may intimate, that it is our intention to give in our own works, an example of the PROGRESS, REFORM, AND IMPROVEMENT, which we would promote in the most vital interests of men and of society.

TO THE FRIENDS OF HUMAN ELEVATION.—Believing the HEALTH REFORM to be the needed basis of all Reforms, and that no agency can be more efficient in promoting it than the WATER-CURE JOURNAL, we rely upon the FRIENDS of the CAUSE of HUMAN ELEVATION to continue their exertions until a copy is within the reach of EVERY FAMILY IN THE UNITED STATES.

The JOURNAL will be published in a beautiful Quarto, for binding, on the first of each month.

PROSPECTUS.

THE GREAT WANT OF THE AGE IS HEALTH—the normal and harmonious Action of all the Elements of our Being, Physical, Intellectual, Affectional, and Social. This Want finds its Satisfaction and this Demand its Supply in a Knowledge of the LAWS OF LIFE, or a true PATHOLOGY; the NATURE and CAUSES OF DISEASE, or a true PATHOLOGY; or the modes of PURIFICATION and INVIGORATION, or a TRUE SYSTEM OF MEDICAL PRACTICE. These and kindred subjects, constituting

THE PHILOSOPHY OF HEALTH, and comprising the LAWS OF PHYSICAL, MORAL and INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT, are the especial sphere of the WATER-CURE JOURNAL; but all that can promote the great design of human happiness, may be included under its sub-title of HERALD OF REFORM.

OUR PLATFORM is a broad one, and our Plan of Operations comprehensive. All subjects connected with Diet, Exercise, Cleanliness, Ventilation, Dressing, Clothing, Education, Occupations, Amusements, and Social Relations—all the elements which combine to make that complex thing called LIFE, will be fully presented.

HYDROPATHY will be fully unfolded, and so explained that all may apply it in various diseases, even those not curable by any other means. The WATER-CURE is not equaled by any other mode of treatment in those peculiar complaints commonly only to WOMEN. The WATER-CURE JOURNAL will contain such advice and instruction as may be considered most important in all these critical yet unavoidable cases.

THE UTILITY OF PHRENOLOGY.

To Know Ourselves is a matter of the greatest importance, and there is no other means by which we can acquire this knowledge so well as by the aid of Phrenology. It teaches us for what occupation in life we are by nature best qualified, and in what pursuit we may be most successful.

To Parents and Teachers it will unfold the true capacities and dispositions of their children and pupils, and thus enable them the more successfully to govern and instruct them.

It will enable the Physician to understand the causes of insanity, and greatly assist him in restoring his patient.

It will aid Manufacturers in selecting Apprentices best adapted to particular occupations, Merchants in selecting confidential Clerks, Shipmasters in selecting Crews, and, what is of still more importance, will guide us correctly in selecting Congenial Companions for Life, and enable us to adapt ourselves to each other, when a difference in disposition exists.

It is a powerful Lever of Self-Improvement, in Moral and Intellectual advancement.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL CABINET.

129 AND 131 NASSAU STREET,

Contains Busts and Casts from the heads of the most distinguished men that ever lived; also Skulls, both human and animal.

MIND of man the central excellence of his being, it follows that those books which treat of the philosophy of man's physical and mental powers, showing how to develop and perfect the one, and to educate and expand furnished with all our publications, on such terms as will enable them to realize a liberal profit. The circulation of these works, it is believed, will be the means of producing a much desired reform in all our modes of life.

THE WATER-CURE JOURNAL

Is published monthly, at One Dollar a year, in advance, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, illustrated with engravings, exhibiting the Structure and Anatomy of the entire Human Body, with familiar explanations, easily to be understood by all classes. The Water-Cure Journal, emphatically a Journal of Health, embracing the true principles of Life and Longevity, has been before the public over 11 years.

PHRENOLOGICAL CABINET.

Strangers and Citizens will find the Phrenological Museum an agreeable place to spend a short time, as it contains many rare curiosities. Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, will be made at all hours, when desired. Written descriptions of character, also, promptly prepared. Our Office is in Clinton Hall, 131 Nassau street.

A LIST OF WORKS

BY FOWLERS AND WELLS, CLINTON HALL, 131 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

IN ORDER to accommodate "The People," residing in all parts of the United States, the undersigned Publishers will forward by return of the FIRST MAIL, any book named in the following List. The postage will be pre-paid by them, at the New York Office. By this arrangement of pre-paying postage in advance, fifty per cent. is saved to the purchaser. The price of each work, including postage, is given, so that the exact amount may be remitted. All letters containing orders, should be post-paid, and directed as follows: FOWLERS AND WELLS, Clinton Hall, 131 Nassau Street, New York.

have also been in the field, and have done good service for the cause. The sale of books, the circulation of the JOURNAL, and the call for examinations and written descriptions of character, have been greater than during any preceding year.

The progress of the science is manifested also in other forms. Authors now write Phrenologically, teachers teach Phrenologically, and ministers preach Phrenologically. A clergyman lately, having occasion to use Phrenological language in speaking of the mental powers, remarked to his congregation that he could find no other nomenclature so appropriate: it explained itself, which could not be said of any of the old systems. This self-evident truth is now very generally recognized.

The motives with which Phrenological examinations are now sought are higher than those which formerly influenced the mass of persons. Once they were examined "for fun" or out of mere idle curiosity; now a desire for the means of self-improvement is generally the motive.

LUCRETIA MOTT has a large, active brain, and a predominant nervous temperament. Her powers of observation are not great; she is not a good judge of the value of property, and has but little love of it, except as a means of doing good. She has a strong sense of moral responsibility, is conscious of her own faults, notices the faults of others, and can not keep still and see things go wrong. As a general thing, on other subjects, she keeps her feelings to herself, but on moral questions and conduct she does not. She has the highest possible regard for moral character, and sets a higher value upon virtue than upon learning, wealth, or any thing and every thing else. She has considerable temper, but governs it well. Her moral indignation is strong and irrepressible. She has large Causality, giving a disposition to reason about causes abstractly, and especially to investigate moral questions. She cares nothing about narrative or fine style—attending only to the argumentative part. Her mind is remarkable for strength, rather than brilliancy. She has a great deal of Caution—too much—and not sufficient Self-esteem. She is not proud, has little vanity, has a feeling of guilt and unworthiness, by which she is continually harassed. She has great moral courage, but a strong love of life. In preaching, she argues abstractly, laying down propositions rather than facts. She has great intensity of religious feeling, considerable Marvelousness, and a disposition to notice the direction of Divine Providence. She has great Concentrativeness, and when interested will dwell long on a subject. She has great love of the fine and delicate, and will say nothing coarse or vulgar. She has good command of language, but is rather precise in her choice of words. She is sensitive, cautious, and prudent. Her attachment to friends is very strong. Her opinions are liberal, and she lays more stress on life than on doctrine. She is pointed in her rebukes, and severe though not malignant in her denunciations. She would hold every one responsible, and require strict practice, in accordance with profession. Her style is marked by thought and substance, rather than brilliant rhetoric or verbal ornament.

Mrs. Mott is a distinguished preacher of the sect of Quakers, and is well known for her philanthropy and for her zealous labors in the cause of Reform.

FANNY FERN'S ADVICE TO HOTEL WAITERS.—Should you see a female at the table digging down to the bottom of the salt-cellar, as if the top stratum was too plebeian, or ordering ninety-nine menses (turning aside from each with affected airs of disgust), or rolling up the whites of her eyes, declaring that she never sat down to a dinner-table before minus "finger glasses," you may be sure that her aristocratic blood is nourished, at home, on herrings and brown bread. When a masculine comes in with a white vest, flashy neck-tie, extraordinary-looking plaid trousers, several yards of gold chain festooned over his breastworks, and a mammoth seal ring on his little finger, you may be sure his tailor and his laundress are both on the anxious-seat; and whenever you see travelers of either sex peregrinating the country in their "best bib and tucker," you can set them down for unmitigated "snobs," for the "quality" can't afford to be so extravagant!

GUMMING IT.—Said a woman with a large, ugly-looking mouth, every tooth in which was defective, or worn down to ragged, ghastly-looking stumps, and with a bad breath, to a lady whose teeth were full, clean, and healthy:

"I would not pay out so much money to the dentist as you do; why don't you 'gum it,' as I do—I don't believe in all these new inventions and improvements; let the teeth have their own way."

True oratory consists in giving the natural language of each faculty in attitude, gesture, expression, and tone of voice. Art in oratory can never take the place of the natural language of the mind.

MIND.

THE mind can be studied only as it is manifested through its material organs, in our emotions and desires.

It is a self-evident proposition that mind is adapted to the natural wants—to all the various relations and duties of man; but is this all we know of that subtile essence?

The Bible speaks of Soul and Spirit. If the Spirit means the Life, the Existence of man, and the Soul means the powers of the mind as adapted to his wants, relations, and duties, then we are left on Phrenological ground, and this is the platform on which we must stand to study its nature, qualities, and parts.

It is difficult, perhaps impossible, for man to understand the elements of which the mind is composed.

Some say that it is a nonentity, that it has no substance, parts, or qualities; that it does not occupy any space, has no weight or bulk; that it can not be seen or handled; that no one has any conception of it; yet, again, some persons say it is indestructible, immortal, responsible, exerting a good or bad influence, and capable of happiness or misery.

Facts within the range of human observation prove that the mind grows or develops. Its first manifestations are very feeble and without knowledge or experience, but gradually, as the body becomes strengthened, the mind expands, and as age brings with it experience and knowledge, it assumes a more positive condition, and begins to look, think, and act for itself, as well as supply its own wants. It soon begins to receive impressions from others and the external world, to inquire into causations and analogies, to become powerful and influential.

Its manifestations correspond with the organs through which it acts, being weak and irregular or strong and healthy, according to the condition of those organs.

Its qualities and conditions partake of the nature of the food eaten and habits practiced. Circumstances, education, and health materially affect its tone, strength, and tenacity, as well as its qualities.

The mind changes in its texture and susceptibility as it becomes more developed, and its sources of enjoyment are directed into more elevated channels.

Hence we see that the mind can be more or less active, can expand or contract, be concentrated or diffused, be positive or negative, physical or spiritual, active or passive, in its manifestations.

Independently of the Phrenological developments, the mind is seen in a great variety of aspects.

What, then, is mind? It seems to be a part of the body, yet it is something superlatively elevated above the blood, bones, and muscles, the corporeal frame-work, while it is so material that it is affected by the condition and quality of the body.

THE above cut represents a complete set of the infant or temporary teeth, with their nervous connection with the general system. They are twenty in number, ten in the upper and ten in the lower jaw. The rudiments of the second or permanent teeth, which are thirty-two in number, are seen directly under the roots of the first. When these rudiments commence growing and ossifying, they crowd against the absorbents of the first teeth, and finally, when the shell or ossific matter has covered the form of the pulp, it elongates and forms the root, and after this the first tooth becomes loose, and the new one protrudes from the jaw.

The importance of a set of good, sound teeth can hardly be overrated. They have much to do both with our looks and our comfort. How to preserve the teeth in a sound and healthy state is an important question.

Some persons inherit a defective organization and a predisposition to diseases of the various organs, and especially of the teeth. In such cases we may not be able wholly to prevent, though we may retard that result.

The direct and external causes of decay or disease in the teeth are more within our control, and prevention is the only thing in this case, there being no real cure for a decayed tooth. Whatever affects the general health of the system unfavorably, injures the teeth. There is a very direct and important connection between the stomach and the teeth, and it is through that, in a great measure, that such fearful inroads are made upon them. Many medicines (and especially calomel) have a most destructive action upon the teeth. Rich and highly seasoned food and hot drinks injure the teeth, as well as the general health. Animal food is less favorable to their health than a vegetable diet. If all the world

Love takes no advantage, for it is based on affinity of mind and a perfect adaptation.

Love comes of itself—it is not forced, it does not degrade or excite—but it is like a pure spring of clear, living water, constantly refreshing the thirsty.

Love produces union, and union love. The more there is of the one, the more there is of the other.

There are many degrees and qualities of love.

Its first action is self-love, a proper exercise of which is at the foundation of all other loves.

Its second manifestation is equal love to our neighbor as ourselves, commenced in connubial love, which, in its turn, prepares the way for love of the pure, true, and God-like.

All loves are first physical, then spiritual; following their natural tendencies, from the lower to the higher.

THE way to success is to keep on trying. The desponding should remember that time and patience convert the mulberry leaf into satin, while a handful of acorns only needs the fostering influence of a little sunshine, and a little rain, with a little ox-tugging, and a little genius, to become a great ship.

Saying prayers every morning, then yielding to bad habits every day, is like a cow giving a good pail of milk, and then putting her foot into it and turning it over.

Resolved, That we will endeavor so to command the respect as well as the love of man, as to be of influence in society.

A MODERN SAMSON.—J. Williams, a Welshman, employed in straightening rails at the iron works on the Conestoga, Lancaster Co., Pa., uses for that purpose a sledge-hammer weighing "ninety pounds." Every rail made requires at least "seven" blows with this immense weapon to straighten it.

and as all the rails are straightened by him, he is called "the straightener." His reign of Henry VIII. of England extended from 1509 to 1547 inclusive, being a period of thirty-eight years. He was voluptuous, sumptuous, resolute, powerful, and the most arbitrary prince that ever sat upon the throne of England.

REV. HOBART BALLOU, the oldest and most extensively known Universalist preacher in the United States, died at Boston on the 7th of June, 1852, in the eighty-first year of his age, deeply lamented by a large circle of friends.

THE ORGANIZATION OF MAXIMILIAN differs far from the usual degree of the Vital, Motive, and Mental temperaments. He has enough of the Vital to give warmth and sustaining power, and zealous freedom of action; enough of the Motive to give force, toughness, and endurance, while the Mental, admirably blinding and harmonizing with the other two, imparts an earnest intensity of mind, and great depth of feeling. In activity, the Mental predominates, having been induced by the study and mental labor incident to the stirring and exciting times in which he has lived. His head is large in the upper region, giving breadth and depth of thought, strong imagination, prudence, great moral power, dignity and firmness of character. He is eminently a man for thought and action. To a clear, far-seeing, and comprehensive mind, he adds force, determination, and the more we become ~~we~~ ^{we} the less shall we depend on them.

 The mind takes a physical direction when it is controlled by the body, but when it controls the body, it has a spiritual direction.
 The body is an organ for the mind to act through—it was not made a house for the soul, but as a medium for expressing, developing, and nourishing it.
 "One hour in the bath," Napoleon used to say, "refreshes me more than four hours of sleep." A saying worth quoting.
 The excesses of youth are drafts upon old age, payable thirty years after, with interest.
 Any body that pretends to be a man can be guilty of no meaner than squirting tobacco juice on a lady's dress in the street.

REV. HOSKA BALLOU, the oldest and most extensively known Universalist preacher in the United States, died at Boston on the 7th of June, 1852, in the eighty-first year of his age, deeply lamented by a large circle of friends, who had long known and admired him for his simplicity of character and amiableness of disposition, he having been a preacher in that denomination for more than sixty years.

The following Phrenological delineation of his character is condensed from the Phonographic report of an examination made at the office of Fowlers and Wells a short time previous to his death:

The size of Mr. Ballou's brain was average, and the vital functions were sufficient to supply the exhaustion of mental action through a long life of labor. He was remarkable, Phrenologically, for evenness of development, none of the organs being extreme.

One of the leading traits of his character arose from Adhesiveness, which gives attachment to and interest in friends. This quality of mind entered largely into the whole tone of his feelings. He was fond of children and

Fig. 5 has a noble, proud disposition, and a lofty, stately carriage, but he is timid, restive, and easily irritated and thrown off his mental balance. Such a horse should be used by steady, calm men, and on roads and in business which have little variety, change, or means of excitement.

JOHN, said a Sabbath-school teacher to a young student of nature, what company does the devil love to keep?

Ans. He likes to mingle with the idle, the dirty, the dissipated—those who have morbid appetites and depraved stomachs, and those who are ignorant of the laws of life and health.

A YOUNG wife remonstrated with her husband, a dissipated spendthrift, on his conduct. "My dear," said he, "I am only like the Prodigal Son—I shall reform by-and-by." "And I will be like the Prodigal Son, too," replied she, "I will arise and go to my father's house," and off she went.

THE habits and tone of the mind of a man can be seen in his judgment, philosophy, and conversation, and in his every-day life.

Fig. 3 has a very active temperament; is a quick, keen, active, intelligent animal, but is sly, cunning, mischievous, and trickish; will be hard to catch in the field, inclined to slip the bridle, will be a great shirk in double harness, and will require a sharp eye and steady hand to drive him, and something besides a frolicsome boy for a master.

Fig. 4 is obstinate, headstrong, easily irritated, deceitful, and savage; will be hard to drive, unhandy, unyielding, sour-tempered, bad to back, inclined to balk, disposed to fight and crowd his mate, and bite and kick his driver.

the language you use, the kind of stories you tell, the pleasures, things for which you make the greatest sacrifices, and on which you place the highest price ; these, more than your professions and pretensions, are the true tests of character.

A PREVENTIVE AGAINST MOTHS.—Take cloves, carraway seeds, nutmeg, mace, cinnamon, and Tonquin, of each one ounce; then add as much Florentine orris-root as will equal the other ingredients put together. Grind the whole to powder, then put it in little bags among your clothes. It is a pleasant perfume, and will keep away moths.

THOMAS FRANCIS MEACHER was born in the city of Waterford, Ireland, on the 3d of August, 1823. He is distinguished for a firm, healthy organization, a great amount of vital and mental force, and a large, well-developed brain. His very large social and intellectual organs, joined with his ardent temperament, impart to his character the earnest and glowing sympathies which led him to forego the ease and pleasure of a life of wealth, to espouse the cause of popular liberty against the power of England, wielding with such masterly effect an eloquence not poss-

THE reign of Henry VIII. of England extended from 1509 to 1547 inclusive, being a period of thirty-eight years. He was voluptuous, sumptuous, resolute, powerful, and the most arbitrary prince that ever sat upon the English throne. He had a very strong vital organization, giving power to the mind and furnishing the stimulus for great mental vigor. He had a very large brain and an immense amount of mental power. His intellectual organs were very large, giving natural talent for scholarship, philosophy, criticism, and statesmanship of a high order. The base of his brain, as seen by the great width of the head, was enormously developed, giving unusual Constructiveness, excessive Acquisitiveness, tremendous Destructiveness, Combativeness, Secretiveness, Amativeness, and all the selfish and animal propensities. These made him violent in temper, treacherous, hypocritical, rapacious in respect to property, talented in invention, voracious in appetite, and controlled by the most ungovernable passions and the most consummate selfishness. His Firmness, Self-Esteem, and Approbativeness were enormous, giving insatiable ambition an unyielding will, and unbounded pride.

ourselves acquainted with our natural rights, and use them in such ways as will best promote the interests of the whole.

Whereas, many of the laws of the land not only do not aid but stand in the way of our securing our rights and privileges, therefore,

Resolved, That we will, by the exercise of every power in our nature, so present our grievances to man as to influence him to alter the laws that we may be, equally with him, represented in and benefited by them.

Whereas, woman, and the whole human race through her, is equally concerned in the marriage relation with man, therefore,

Resolved, That she be allowed equal privileges with man in selecting partners for life, and that she assume a more positive character in the marriage relation.

Whereas, it devolves on mothers more than on fathers to educate and govern their children, therefore,

Resolved, That we claim, in the name of humanity and as a right, to be, equally with men, educated in the various institutions of the country, in all the sciences and useful accomplishments of life.

Whereas, true independence arises from proper encouragement and fair compensation for labor, and a right to dispose of one's individual property, therefore,

Resolved, That we assume a more positive relation to man in business matters, and that we demand equal price for equal labor with man, and that if our property is taxed, we insist upon the right to have a voice in making the laws which regulate taxation.

Resolved, That as society now is, woman's position to man on account of having no means is more or less subject to his will and destroyed.

Resolved, That we will, as far as possible, pay our own bills for amusements, rides, and will place us under obligations to our man.

Whereas, woman, heretofore, has been dependent, therefore,

Resolved, That we will endeavor so to conduct ourselves as to command the respect as well as the love of man, and to be of influence in society.

Resolved, That we will agitate this subject until we obtain equality with man, so far as nature's gifts will allow, and she fill the place designed by nature as becometh a woman.

A MODERN SAMSON.—J. Williams, a Welshman, employed in straightening rails at the iron works on the Conestoga, Lancaster Co., Pa., uses for that purpose a sledge-hammer weighing "ninety pounds." Every rail made requires at least "seven" blows with this immense hammer to straighten it, and as all the rails are straightened by him, he strikes nearly "one thousand blows with it every day," though the human frame was not capable of such exertion; yet Mr. Williams enjoys excellent health, and is vigorous with every day's exercise. Every seven blows weigh 630 lbs.; and thus he raises 90,000 pounds a day, or 18,000 pounds a week.

HIBERNIAN BULLS.—The defaulting manager of the Dunferry is thus described: "He had on, when I saw him, a pair of trowsers, with a tremendous squint rather than an affected lisp, which he endeavors to conceal with his teeth."

A noted burglar is thus sketched: "He has black eyes on a turn-up nose, which is dyed black with soot."

Betsy Waterton is accused of having "absconded with a chest of drawers and a cock and hen, has red hair and a broken tooth, none of which are her own."

FIVE PRINCIPAL RACES OF MEN.

BLUMENBACH divides mankind into five leading classes or races, each distinguished by such peculiarities in the skin, hair, eyes, and shape of the head as to stand apart from the rest. They are named the CAUCASIAN, MONGOLIAN, ETHIOPIAN, AMERICAN, and MALAY.

1. The Caucasian race is widely spread on the face of the globe, and is remarkable for the highest order of physical beauty and intellectual eminence. The skin of this race is generally fair; the hair is fine, long, and of various colors; the skull is large, rounded, and oval, and the forehead large and elevated. The face is relatively small and well proportioned, the nose arched, the chin full, and the teeth vertical.

In this variety or race of men we find the farthest remove from the animal in brain, features, and hair, with a superiority of intellectual and moral power, love of the arts, science, and poetry. The progress of the human family seems to be made wholly through this race. The chief families of the Caucasian variety are the Caucasians proper, the Germanic branch, the Celtic, the Arabian, the Libyan, the Nilotic, and the Asiatic. These families we may trace out in future ages.

2. The Mongolian variety, in numbers and extent of the earth's surface which they inhabit, is a family of vast importance. They are the Mongol Tartars, the Turks, the Chinese, and Polar races. There is considerable difference in the physical characteristics of the Mongolians. The skin is commonly of an olive tint, the hair is black, long, and straight, beard scanty, the eye black, the nose broad and short, the cheekbones broad and flat; the skull is oblong, but flattened at the sides so as to give an appearance of squareness, and the forehead is low. They lack originality and power of mind, are more imitative than inventive. Their moral character is decidedly low.

3. The principal Ethiopian families are the Negroes of Central Africa, the Caffres, the Hottentots, the natives of Australia, and of the islanders of the Indian Archipelago and the Pacific Ocean.

5. Borneo, Java, Sumatra, the Philippine Islands, New Zeland, and a part of Madagascar and various Polynesian Islands are inhabited by this variety of mankind. They have tawny or dark-brown skins, coarse, black hair, large mouth, broad, short noses, seeming as if broken at the root, projecting upper jaws and protruding teeth. The forehead is broad and low, the crown of the head high. The moral character of the Malaya is of an inferior order. They are active, ingenious, and fond of maritime pursuits, and exhibit considerable intellectual capacity.

This subject is one of fruitful inquiry, and is attracting the attention of naturalists every

The black variety of mankind have complexions of jetty hue, black, woolly hair, eyes large, black, and prominent, nose broad and flat, thick lips, and wide mouth. The head is long from the ears back, and narrow; the forehead is low, narrow, and retreating; the cheek-bones prominent, the jaws and teeth projecting, and the chin small. A long, protruding heel, and a flat shin-bone often distinguish this variety.

In disposition they are easy, indolent, cheerful, fond of sensual pleasure, and lovers of children, fond of gaudy show, but very improvident. In intellect the race varies much, but the majority of its tribes

H. LAMBERT,

NEW YORK.

THE Phrenological developments of Mrs. Lambert are very marked. Few persons possess stronger peculiarities of character. Her brain is large, with a full base, prominent social and perceptive organs, and large Benevolence.

She is noted for energy, executive power, tact, management, general business talent, off-hand judgment, knowledge of property, ability to take advantage of circumstances, versatility of talent, attachment to friends, and sociability. She can attend to all kinds of business, indoor or outdoor, public or private, on a large or a small scale, mechanical, mercantile, domestic or legislative, with almost equal facility and success. But the most prom-

To gratify a very laudable curiosity, and to illustrate the truth of our science, we herewith present the public a portrait and the Phrenological developments of this very remarkable man.

On examination we find the following conditions. A well-developed body, neither corpulent nor spare, with a compact, full-sized brain; an active temperament, with sufficient vitality to enable him to perform much mental or physical labor. He is from a long-lived ancestry—a healthy parentage—exhibiting no signs of acquired or hereditary disease. With ordinary care, accidents excepted, he may attain a greater age than is awarded to mankind generally.

The former is the ablest Journal on the subject to which it is devoted, published in the language, and to the friends of the science it is invaluable and indispensable. The latter is a work which ought to be in the hands of every American reader. It is edited with great ability, and treats of subjects of universal interest. It is no quack or catch-penny concern, but furnishes in simple and popular language important instruction in the science and philosophy of "Physiology, Hydropathy, and the Laws of Life," the comprehensive total of Hygiene.—Western Plough Boy.

THE above portrait represents one of the most ambitious men in this country. This quality of mind, combined with a dominant Mental Temperament and a general organization favorable to intellectual development, has rendered its possessor eminently successful in promoting his own ends, and in reaching high posts of honor in his country's service. He is now Attorney-general of the United States.

His head is high, particularly in the region of Firmness, Self-Esteem, and Approbativeness. The perceptive faculties are prominent, as are also Eventuality, Comparison, and Intuition. This combination has made him master of a wide range of knowledge, and enabled him to manifest great versatility of talent and much literary ability. Ambition, Will, and Industry have, however, been the principal instruments of his elevation.

NEWSPAPERS.—Dr. Johnson, when in the fullness of years and knowledge, said: "I never take up a newspaper without finding something I could have deemed it a loss not to have seen; never, without deriving from it instruction and amusement."

He who encourages young men in the pursuit of agriculture, is doing good work for society a hundred years hence.
